VERDICT

FOR $7,000

Circuit Court Jury Awards

McLean College That Amount.

Circuit Court has been occupied several days in trying the case of McLean College against the Hopkinsville Water Co., and on Thursday the jury awarded the plaintiff $7,000 damages. The suit was brought on account of the destruction of the college building Feb. 2, 1912. It was claimed that the Water Company failed to furnish a pressure of water sufficient to extinguish the fire. C. H. Bush and Trimble & Bell represented the college. The suit was for $20,000.

City Wins Suit.

The case of Mary Buckner, col., et al vs. City of Hopkinsville, claiming $1,000 damages for the overflowing of a lot on Younglove street, was tried Monday and yesterday. The jury found for the defendant after being out a short while.

The case of Rachel Washington, col., vs. City of Hopkinsville, appealed and sent back for retrial, was settled on the old judgment of $750, being the price of ground taken for extending West 15th street.

JURY BEFORE JURY.

Unprecedented Action, With Apparent Reason, By Judge Hanbery.

A petit jury having to appear singly—or any other way, as to that—before the grand jury of Christian county, is something altogether unprecedented, so far as can be remembered.

Judge Hanbery had heard that somebody had been attempting to influence the petit jury in a certain Commonwealth case and called the jury's attention to the matter, and told them if they knew anything about the rumor they must make it known. Then the Judge told the grand jury of the rumor and ordered them to make a full investigation and to have every member of the petit jury before them and question him closely.

LAWRENCE PRESIDENT

Cadiz Editor is Elected President of Kentucky Press Association.

LEMON THE VICE PRESIDENT.

Festivities Included Many Social Functions and Much Sport.

Olympian Springs Ky., June 12.—The following officers were elected today by the Kentucky Press association:

John S. Lawrence, of Cadiz, president; J. R. Lemon, of Mayfield, vice president; J. C. Alcock, of Jefferson-town, secretary and treasurer; J. B. Saers, of Nicholasville, was chosen chairman of the executive committee.

THE EDITORS.

Olympia, Ky., June 12.

At last the wintry blasts are gone and in their stead, the members of the Press Association are enjoying the summer breezes. Overcoats and big log fires have helped to keep the editors warm, but now the sun is shining bright and powerful and the weather is what it should be.

Despite the cold weather, not a grumble has been heard, and every one of the 110 editors has been in the highest possible good humor and many witty thrusts have been made and received.

Secretary J. Curtis Alcock, of Jeffersonsontown, was called to Glasgow Tuesday by a telegram stating that his mother was seriously ill. In his absence, Col. L. W. Gaines, of Trenton, was delegated to be the acting secretary.

The Tuesday afternoon session was one of the best of the meeting and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. One of the most interesting features of this meeting was a Round Table Discussion on the subject "The Business End of Country Papers," led by J. B. Stears of the Nicholasville News. The association was also favored by an address by Mrs. Desha Breckenridge on the subject of Woman Suffrage. Miss Linda Neville, of Lexington, also spoke at this meeting on the topic "The Inauguration of Warfare on Blindness in Kentucky."

While the men are having their business meeting, many social features are being indulged in. Bridge and euchre parties take up the time of the ladies during the day, while dancing is the favorite pastime of all at night. The german on Tuesday night was the social feature of the week and nearly every editor here took part, along with a large number of visitors. The german was opened with a grand march led by Herschel Long and Mrs. Stephen Vaught, of Winchester.

There was only one session held on Wednesday, just a short morning session. There were three papers, "Telling the Truth About Circulation," J. R. Lemon, Mayfield Messenger; "The Daily in the Small City," R. R. Perry, Winchester Sun; and "Getting Together on Prices," J. W. Hedden, Jr., Mt. Sterling Advocate. There was also a Round Table Discussion on the question "The Plate Question."

In the afternoon the editors practiced baseball and the ladies enjoyed a large euchre party. Thursday morning will be given over to a very interesting program, while in the afternoon a ball game between the editors of Eastern and Western Kentucky will be played. H. A. L.

NEW COMPANY IS ORGANIZED

Large Building is To Be Completed By the First of October.

OFFICERS HAVE BEEN ELECTED

Plans Have Been Completed and Work Will Begin After Chautauqua.

The complete organization of the Hopkinsville Apartment Company was effected at a meeting held here last Wednesday morning.

The board of directors is composed of the following gentlemen: Frank M. Fisher, of Paducah, President; Garner M. Dalton, Secretary; Dr. T. W. Blakey, Treasurer; H. G. O'Kain, Nashville, and A. D. Noe.

As stated in this paper a week ago, the object of the company is to build a large apartment house on the vacant half square adjoining Hotel Latham. This property was bought by Mr. John J. Metcalfe over two years ago with the intention of erecting on it an apartment building. Receiving a satisfactory offer from the new company he disposed of the property. The sale was closed last Wednesday.

The company has Capt. Brinton B. Davis, of Louisville, well known as one of the leading architects of the South, drawing the plans for the building, and he has so far progressed with the work as to be able to turn over the ground plans in a short time, and as soon as the Chautauqua is over the work of putting in the foundation will be pushed to completion.

Capt. Davis was the designer of the Hopkinsville High School building, the Inter-Southern Hotel, Louisville; the Western Normal School building at Bowling Green, and many other buildings in different sections, and he ranks among the leading architects of the United States.

The apartment company is abundantly able to carry out the most elaborate designs that may be submitted by Capt. Davis and the structure, which will cover the half square will be, probably only two stories high. There will be nearly twenty apartments for family use. There will be several handsome rooms for bachelors who will take their meals at different places.

The main entrance will be on Liberty street, though there will be entrances on Sixth and Seventh streets. It is useless to say that it will be furnished with gas, electricity, bath rooms and every other modern convenience.

Mr. Frank M. Fisher, who is known to many here, is president of the New Century Hotel at Dawson, besides having a financial interest in many other large enterprises. He is postmaster at Paducah, the owner of the Paducah Daily Sun and is considered one of the most enterprising business men in Kentucky.

DELIGHTFUL DAY

Spent at Cave by Second Baptist Church Sunday School.

The Second Baptist Church Sunday School, including teachers and other members, had a picnic at Flemming's Cave Thursday. There were about 150 in the party and the day was most pleasantly spent. A sumptuous dinner was served at the noon hour, after which addresses were made by the following: Rev. W. R. Goodman, the pastor; Mr. Otto McCord and Miss Rosebud Wood. A trip through the cave concluded the program.

Mrs. W. S. Harned went to Fairview this week to visit relatives.

TAX BOOKS NOW READY

Vigo Barnes and Fred Jackson Completed Six Weeks' Job Yesterday.

FOUR HEAVIEST TAX PAYERS

Taxable Property of City and County $12,082,740-- 2,217 Dogs.

You can pay your State and county taxes today if you want to.

Deputy County Clerks Vigo Barnes and Fred Jackson completed the new tax books yesterday. They waited until today to turn them over to the Sheriff. Yesterday was the only Friday the 13th in the year and, though they have no more superstition than most people, and urgency not demanding it, they concluded to wait until today.

The completion of their work reveals a good many facts, the more prominent of them being that the taxable property of the city and county subject to the State and county taxes aggregates $2,082,740; 8,252 polls; 4,865 road polls and 2,217 dogs.

The four heaviest tax payers and amounts are as follows:

R. F. Rives.....	$782.62
Meriwether Mason.....	756.00
Edward D. Jones.....	605.05
Miss Louise Jones.....	521.00

The above is exclusive of the different corporations. The new books will be found to be, most probably, a great improvement over the old ones. All tax receipts are made out in duplicate and are perforated. The amount is stated and every item as assessed for taxation. The Sheriff has no bookkeeping to do whatever except to keep a memoranda of his days business. The taxpayers' names are all entered alphabetically and the collector will have no trouble in finding their names when they call to pay. The old receipts as everyone knows, did not show for what property the taxes were paid. The new receipt gives everything and when the assessor for the next year takes the list all that is to be done is to hunt up the last receipt and give in his property accordingly, with what changes may that may be necessary.

After the limit for paying taxes without incurring the penalty has expired and the delinquents are to be waited on the original book of receipts will be used, this saving a great deal of trouble to the collector. The work of making out the books has been a laborious one and very tedious, but by diligence the two deputies accomplished their task in a little less than six weeks.

GUNN HOUSE

Sold at Public Auction Yesterday, Bringing $265.

The two-story, 10-room frame house on the South side of Ninth street, known as the "Dr. Gunn house," was sold yesterday morning at public auction. The first bid cried was $150. Then an advance bid was made, another following until $265 was reached, when it was knocked off to Phil K. Redd.

The price is considered low, but as the building will most probably have to be torn down, the price received was much under its real value. It is not known what Mr. Redd will do with it. The house must be removed by July 8th. It is not known when the Government will begin the work of putting in the foundation for the postoffice building.

Mrs. George M. Steele, the present occupant of the premises, has taken rooms with Dr. and Mrs. Rozzell, at 7th and Clay streets, and will move Monday.

RICH WINES FOR ROYALTY

Of Design They Are Made So Good
as to Spoil Sale of Other Kinds and Grades.

In the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries in Paris the wine of Montmartre was as celebrated and as popular with connoisseurs as Chateau Yquem is today, and the dingy Rue de la Goutte d'Or, now the resort of the Apache, takes its name from the Montmartre wine of the best quality.
In fact, this particular vintage was so renowned that it was the custom for Paris to present four casks of it to the king of France on each anniversary of his coronation. In 1214 an international wine exhibition was held in Paris. Spain, Portugal, Greece, Italy and France sent their best vintages.

The reigning king, Philippe Auguste, presided himself over the judging committee, and after a fair and exhaustive test the jury declared the wine of Cyprus to be king of the wines, the Malaga was proclaimed viceroys, and the Goutte d'Or vintage was one of the three dukes, the others being the Malvoisie and the Alicante.
It was this very success of the wine
of Paris which worked its downfall.
Those who had hitherto cultivated other crops decided to grow nothing but wines in future, and planted them indiscriminately, without regard to the nature of the soil. The result was a gradual degeneration in the quality of the wines, and with their lost reputation the cultivation of the vine was finally abandoned altogether.—San Francisco Argonaut.

The Boy Scouts—A Feature Of Chautauqua Week

HON. WOODROW WILSON, president of the United States, was recently elected honorary president of the Boy Scout organization of America. This will be of interest here in view of the fact that Boy Scout drills and scout craft are to be a feature of our forthcoming Chautauqua.

To those unacquainted with the Boy Scout movement a few facts will be of interest. The Boy Scout order originated with Lieutenant General Baden-Powell of England and today has more than half a million members in England, 750,000 in America and 25,000 in Australia. There are more than 5,000 members of the order in Chicago alone, representing Jewish, Catholic and Protestant churches, social settlements, playgrounds and Y. M. C. A.'s. The object of the movement is character building for boys between the ages of twelve and eighteen. It is an effort to train them in self reliance, manhood, good citizenship and scoutcraft. Scoutcraft includes instruction in first aid to the injured, life saving, signaling, nature study, camp craft, woodcraft, chivalry and patriotism.

Each boy must take the scout oath, the form of which is, "I will do my best; to do my duty to God and my country and to obey the scout law; to help other people at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight."

WHERE WIND REALLY BLOWS

According to Versacious Kansan It Would Be Hard to Beat the Brand
in the Sunflower State.

The western "cyclone" has many strange antics to its credit, but, if we may believe Mr. Peters' story in the Kansas City Star, the high winds of the open prairie are even more to be dreaded than the whirling force of the tornado.

"There are some things that an old resident learns out there from observation and experience. One is that when you are facing a hard wind, you must keep your mouth shut. One day I was traveling with a tenderfoot from the east. He was a long, slender man, about six feet and three inches long, and about six inches wide. He had no more meat on his bones than a fork handle. As I was saying, one day we started to ride across the prairie, when the wind came up in our faces, blowing at the rate of one hundred miles an hour or so.

"That tenderfoot opened his mouth to say something to me. I heard him make a curious noise and looked around to see what was the matter, and saw that he had inadvertently swallowed about six or seven barrels of wind. He looked like an inflated air cushion, and seemed to be about four times his natural size. It seemed to set him sort of crazy, and he jumped out of the buggy. When he lit on the ground, he bounded into the air like a rubber ball, and then went bounding across the prairie like a tumbleweed before the wind. At the end of three miles he fell into a canyon, where the wind couldn't get at him and stopped, but it was a week before he was back to his normal size."

French Criminal Lawyer Sets Forth Defense He Has in Mind for Lady Macbeth.

Henri Robert, a leading French criminal barrister, held enthralled a distinguished gathering at the Universite des Annales a few days ago as he showed how he would have defended Lady Macbeth.

In this impassioned defense of the tragic queen, Mr. Robert said she was not the shrew she was sometimes pictured. Her husband, whom she loved dearly, was always absent on warlike expeditions. When he returned for a brief spell he spent his days hunting and his nights in the great hall of the castle in drunken revelry until he and his friends fell asleep in their armor. Was it not natural that she yearned for something, she knew not what, that would put an end to her life of loneliness, monotony and weariness?

"Another point," said Mr. Robert,
"which I would argue in defense of my client—a point on which Shakespeare is silent—is the long and deadly feud between Lady Macbeth and the family of the old King Duncan. Her first husband, her father-in-law, her brother and her grandfather had all been killed by Duncan's grandfather, and she only saved her own life by fleeing to Ross, where she met General Macbeth, whom she afterward married. A vendetta existed between her family and that of Duncan. That is the defense I put forward for Lady Macbeth."

Newspaper Comment on Redpath Chautauquas

From Towns Where These Chautauquas
Were Held Last Year.

The Huntington, Ind., Herald
said: "General concensus in Huntington is that the chautauqua has been of great benefit both educationally and as an entertainment."

The Niles, Mich., Daily Sun
says: "It requires no words of ours to add to the volume of praise for the great chautauqua even-day course. Its value to the community as an educational and moral force cannot be measured in dollars and cents."

The Crawfordsville, Ind., Journal
said: "A canvass was made of the business portion of the city to-day, in which a large number of people competent to judge were asked the opinion of the chautauqua.
Without exception, those interviewed said it was great."

The Maysville, Ky., Daily Independent: "The people of Maysville who have had a touch of the chautauqua this year have surely enjoyed it. Some of the lecturers alone were worth the price of a season ticket."

The Vincennes, Ind., Commercial:
"This year's program has been wonderful."

The Kendallville, Ind., News-Sun:
"Everyone is looking forward to next summer's week of pleasure."

The Goshen, Ind., News-Times
"The chautauqua is proving a great success and promises to become a permanent institution in Goshen. It furnishes good wholesome entertainment and is a great educational and uplifting influence in the community."

IN COILS OF LOVE

Professor's Artistic Temperament Chastened Through the Wiles of Cupid.

"Mrs. Martin!" Professor Maywood's voice was plaintive, his manner a trifle injured, though not enough so to impair his courtesy. His landlady, plump and cheery, in her lilac print gown and snowy apron, came to the dining-room door, pan-cake in hand, injury in her eye.

"I'm so sorry to trouble you," her boarder apologized, pushing toward her a plate upon which reposed his breakfast egg, with a gash in its side. "But, really, my egg—it seems to be—!" The widow bustled forward, all solicitude. "Isn't it a good one?" she asked. Reassuring herself on that point, she listened as Alpheus Maywood continued delicately, "I'm afraid you've left it in just a little bit too long—to me, you know, exactly four and a half minutes is the—er—happy medium."

"Oh," Mrs. Martin responded, "if that's it, I'll do you another one. The water's boiling." If an ironic humor flickered for a moment in her blue eyes, the professor did not notice it, his attention being caught by the shadows in an April cloud which floated past the window. Soon Mrs. Martin appeared with his egg, and a plate of smoking cakes as well. "When I'm turning cakes," she observed, in a manner more cheerfully explanatory than apologetic, "I don't always have time to watch the clock real close. But this one is just on the minute." Alpheus gave her a grateful glance from his soft, dark eyes, murmured his thanks, and finished his breakfast in a pleasant reverie. At its close, he reached absently for his glass of water, but as his lips encountered its edge, he set it down somewhat hastily, with a pained expression.

"What's the matter?" questioned his landlady. "Isn't it cold enough?" The professor flushed sensitively, and begged pardon. "It is unfortunate, I know, to be so susceptible to impressions, dear Mrs. Martin, though the artistic temperament must often suffer. It was the glass—not, I think, the one I usually—"

"Oh, I forgot your thin one; wait, I'll get it," and she extracted it with care from the glass-enclosed wall cupboard. "I can't leave 'em around, they break so easily; so I don't always remember," she explained, as she had often done before, and Alpheus thanked her tenderly, supping the cool water with chaste enjoyment, and regarding with growing approval the widow's neat blonde head and still youthful complexion. "Dear Mrs. Martin, I do appreciate your efforts to make me comfortable," he smiled, as he rose to go; "indeed, you quite spoil me, I fear!" But, manlike, his manner betokened no deep regret.

"Maybe I do," she returned, with a little laugh which held a hint of vexation at herself, though this he did not notice, as he left the room. She could not quite explain to her own satisfaction her tolerant attitude toward her exacting boarder. To be sure, he paid regularly, with no underbred haggling over details, and thus he had a certain claim to adequate service. Ordinarily, however, she was not a woman who encouraged "finicky" ways, even in her boarders; and the late Mr. Martin had been notably the best trained husband in Brookdale. But Alpheus—well, he had a lovable, boyish helplessness about him, which made him seem younger than herself, though both were hovering coyly about the wrong side of forty. Mrs. Martin had not read "The Dangerous Age," and she was not introspective, though she sometimes reminded herself mercilessly that there was "no fool like an old fool," when she caught herself humoring the artist's whims. "Such a fussier!" she scolded, as she cleared the table; "half a minute out of the way on his egg, and it's too hard or too soft, and he thinks he can't touch it! Won't eat good, wholesome onions and turnips and cabbage, because they are smelly when they're cooking! If I forget and put sugar in his coffee or cream in his tea—no, it's the other way 'round—he thinks they're poison! If it wasn't for that, he'd be so nice; and he's certainly handsome. Must have been his mother's fault, raising him that way. Maybe, even yet, if he was to marry some good, sensible woman, he'd straighten out—but I s'pose he'll fall in love with one of those flighty young things in his class at the college. I bet I could make a man of him, if I had the right!" She gave a little involuntary sigh; then with a sudden flush, frowned romantic musings in the clattering dishpan.

Alpheus, too, had his meditations, as he walked to his painting class. A pleasing possibility had occurred to him several times, of late; one which caused a decided quickening of his pulses. "Why not?" he mused. "Until now, I have been content alone, for the young girls nowadays are disturbing to my sensitive nature. They are not domestic; they are too independent; they do not suggest the repose, the womanly deference to my judgment, the solicitude for my comfort, so necessary to happiness. But dear Mrs. Martin knows all my tastes, and apparently studies only to please me. She is charming, too—really charming; and she owns her own home. I realize that I am growing fond of her, and she might learn to love me, and accept gratefully my guidance and protection. Yes, I will speak to Alice—a sweet name—with-out delay!"

A month later marked the beginning of their honeymoon, at a popular seaside resort. The courtship had been brief, for any doubts which the bride may have felt had been set at rest by Alpheus' plea, "I need you, dear Alice!" She knew he needed her, and conscience as well as heart urged her to do her duty by him. The union of their two small incomes assured them a good home, and his profession commanded social respect. As they sat together at breakfast in their modest hotel, she felt at peace with the world, and beamed kindly upon her spouse, as he prepared to open his egg.

Suddenly the doubt in his face turned to awful certainty, and he hastily dropped the egg, his very finger-tips expressing distress. "Alice!" he shuddered, "it's too soft—my egg! I'm sure it's a scant four minutes. Where is the waiter—quick?"

The new Mrs. Maywood's smile took on a tender, maternal quality, and she laid a soothing hand upon his agitated shoulder. "Never mind, dear," she said, sweetly but firmly. "We won't bother him for such a trifle—and anyhow, it's more healthy than that sticky way you like 'em. And you know at home, I can't get 'em just right, half the time, so you might as well get used to the different stages. See, I'll put in some of this nice bacon, and you eat a hot roll with it, and you'll never know the difference. You see, pettie, being alone so long, with no one to tell you, you were fussy; you've got into a lot of queer little ways—I've often noticed, but it would have been forward of me to help you, before you belonged to me. Eat your breakfast, dearie—I've fixed your coffee. Oh, that's so, you don't take cream—but never mind; just try it Alice's way and see how nice it is!"

Mrs. Maywood had that magnetic quality which marks the successful nurse to the mentally afflicted. Her husband's tense nerves relaxed in spite of themselves, and as he looked into her smiling blue eyes and at her tempting pink lips, he too smiled vaguely, and ate the underdone egg and despoiled bacon, and drank his coffee with cream, as one in a trance. But as he took a sip of water, nettled by the thickness of the glass, his eyes were large and absent, and seemed deeply to interrogate the future.—C. R. S., in the Buffalo Express.

OLD PROPHECIES FULFILLED.

Constantine, the new king of Greece, fulfills so many prophecies that even the most skeptical must be moved to the opinion that there must be something in them. Recently it was pointed out that a mediaeval monk prophesied that Constantinople would fall when Venice gave the church a Pope and the Greeks had a king named Constantine. An even more startling prophecy which fits the new king has just been unearthed. It appears that in 1188, according to letters sent to the king of France from his envoys at Constantinople, the city was much perturbed in consequence of a sentence mysteriously inscribed one night on the Golden Gate, "When a fair-haired king comes from the west, I shall open to him." King Constantine is decidedly fair-haired.

ON A ONE-NIGHT STAND.

The barn-stormer was playing Richard III. "A horse, a horse, my kingdom for a horse!" he roared. "If ye quit naow ye'll be able to catch the ten-thutty trolley," came a tired voice from the gallery.

Comments of World-Famous Men on the CHAUTAUQUA

Keep in Mind that Our City is to Have a Great Seven-Day Chautauqua
Program This Season.

Hon. Theodore
Roosevelt, Ex-
President of the United States,
says:

"The chautauqua is the most distinctively American thing in this country."

Hon. William Jennings Bryan,
Secretary of State, says:

"The chautauqua affords one of the best opportunities now presented the public speaker for the discussion of questions of interest to the people. The audience is a select one and always composed of the thoughtful element of the community, and as they pay admission they stay to hear. I believe that a considerable part of the progress that is now being made along the line of moral and political reforms is traceable to the influence of the chautauqua."

Dr. Frank W. Gunsaulus, the World's Greatest Preacher and President of Armour Institute of Technology, says:

"The chautauquas have become a great people's university. They are among the greatest feeders for our colleges and universities. He further states that ten per cent of the students in the institution of which he is president, Armour Institute, owe their presence to the chautauqua influence."

Hon. Champ Clark, Speaker of the National House of Representatives, says:

"A great many newspaper wits shoot their shafts at chautauqua lecturers, and certain purse-proud editors undertake to make it a sin for a public man to lecture for pay. They think it the height of sarcasm to refer to a public man as a chautauquan. There is one great virtue in chautauqua money. It is clean money. You do not have to explain where you got it. If a man does not desire to go to hear a lecture, there is no law to compel him to do so. * * * The chautauqua has been a powerful force in directing the political thought of the country, which is largely sociological in these latter days. * * * I defend the chautauqua and the chautauqua lecturer, with whom I have been associated, because they constitute as fine a group of men and women as can be found among the splendid citizenship of America. I have a deep and abiding interest in them, and bid them a hearty godspeed in their work."—From The Arena.

BAKER-FAIRLEIGH

Hopkinsville Tobacconist Weds Wisconsin Bride.

Mr. Robert M. Fairleigh, one of the prominent tobacco men of this city, was married last Thursday at Stephens Point, Wisconsin, at high-noon. The following dispatch gives the details:

Stephens Point, Wisconsin, June 12.
At high noon today, at the Church of the Intercession, the marriage of Miss Frances Helen June Baker to Mr. Robert M. Fairleigh, of Hopkinsville, Ky., was celebrated.

The Episcopal ring service was read by the Rev. E. Croft Gear, rector of the church, in the presence of an assemblage of relatives and friends, and summer flowers with smilax, ferns and palms made a beautiful floral setting for the happy occasion.

The lovely bride was given away by her father, Mr. Charles Bion Baker, and Miss Sadie Buck, of Hopkinsville was maid of honor. Mr.
A. W. Wood, of Hopkinsville, attended the bridegroom. The ushers were Messrs. Myron Harshaw and Clinton Capps. Miss Elizabeth
Montgomery, of Wausau, sang "O Promise Me." The "March" from "Athalie" was played by Miss Katherine Ball, of Stephens Point, and she rendered Liszt's "The Love Dream" during the ceremony.

A delightful luncheon was served at one o'clock, covers being laid for sixty, and at 2:55 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Fairleigh left on a short trip before going to Hopkinsville where they will reside.

The bride belongs to one of the of the families in Wisconsin. She is a granddaughter of the late Mr. N.
C. Lawrence, a niece of Judge F. M.
Lawrence, of Maysville, Wis., and a niece of Senator Lamoreux of Ashland. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Carroll College in 1911 and her Master of Arts degree in 1912 from the University of Wisconsin. She was the Honor Scholar of the university in English. She is a member of the Beta Chi Theta society. Mr. Fairleigh is connected with the tobacco firm of Tandy & Fairleigh at Hopkinsville and is one of the leading young business men of that city. He is a member of one of the Kentucky town's representative families, being the son of the late Dr. Fairleigh. He is one of the most popular members of society circles of his home town.

Quick Match.

Miss Baker was a teacher in Bethel College during the last session and met her future husband on March 12.
It was a case of mutual love at first sight and the young bachelor at once

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.
There is only one way to cure deafness,
and that is by constitutional remedies.
Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

BY VIRTUE of a Judgment and Order of Sale of the Christian Circuit Court, rendered at the June Term thereof, 1913, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale, at the Court-house door in Hopkinsville, Ky., to the highest and best bidder, at PUBLIC AUCTION, on Monday, the 7th day of July, 1913, between the hours of 11 A. M. and 2 P. M. (being County Court day,) upon a credit of six months, the following described property,
to-wit:

A certain tract or parcel of land, containing 213 acres, composed of five adjoining parcels, situated in the Northern portion of Christian county, Kentucky, on the West side of the L. & N. Railroad, at Kelly, Ky., and being the same upon which Jesse P. Ford lived, at the time of his death, and bounded, as a whole,
as follows, viz:—

Beginning at a stone (marked "A"
on Plat) standing on the North side of a road, corner to a lot, sold to Joe Richardson by Mrs. L. J. Fortner; running, thence, with said road, S.
37 W. 230 poles to an Ash and Hickory, on a drain, in the original Armstrong line; thence, with said line, N. 41 W. 91 poles to a Black Oak stump, in said line, about 8 poles North West from a spring, corner to the Cynthia J. Fuller land; thence, with a line of same, passing a corner of it, and the P. A. Knight land, and crossing the Kelly & Mount Zoar road, at about 75 poles, N. 2 E. full distance, 150 poles to a stake, in a line of the George Fuller land; now owned by John H. Boyd; thence, with a line thereof, S. 53 E. 56 1/2 poles to a poplar stump, on the South side of the Kelly & Mount Zoar road; thence with said road, N.
37 E. 84 1/2 poles to a Mulberry; on North side of said road; thence, again, with said road, N. 64 E. 91 poles to a stake; in said road, corner to the Underwood lot; thence, with a line of same, and center of said road, N. 71 E. passing a corner of said Underwood lot; and corner of what is known as the Shop lot; and which was the property of J. P.
Ford, at the time of his death; at 9.2 poles, course continued, in all, 18 poles to a stake, in a line of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company's property; thence, with said line, S. 16 E. 16.2 poles to a stake, corner to Mrs. L. J. Fortner's property; thence, with her line, S. 71 W.
6.6 poles to a stake, her corner;
thence, with another of her lines, S.
62 W. 37 poles to a hickory, on the West side of a branch, another of her corners; thence, with another of her lines, S. 25 E. 91 poles to the beginning; and containing 213 acres.

Also, an adjoining lot, containing 3/4ths of an acre, and bounded as follows: Beginning at a stake, in a line of the L. & N. Railroad Co's property, S. E. corner to Woodburn's lot, thence with Woodburn's line, S. 71 W. 8.8 poles to the N. E. corner of the Underwood lot; thence,
with a line of same, S. 16 E. 6.8
poles to a stake, in the Mt. Zoar &
Kelly road; thence, with said road, N. 71 E. 8.8 poles to a line of the aforesaid railroad company's property; thence, with said line, N. 16 W. 6.8 poles to the beginning; and containing 3/4ths of an acre.

Said 213 acres is to be sold in two parcels, and as a whole, and the bid, or bids, accepted, which yield the most money.

For the purchase price, the purchaser must execute bond, with approved surety, or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a Replevin Bond. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

EXPERIENCE OF MOTHERHOOD

Advice to Expectant Mothers

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes
once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal,
healthy and strong.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

AGED VETERAN

Hiking It From Chattanooga to Hopkinsville.

Springfield, Tenn., June 10.—An old Confederate soldier named Madins passed through here yesterday from Atlanta, en route to Hopkinsville to visit his daughter, making the journey on foot. When asked why he traveled by that means he said: "Well, I was in Atlanta and thought I would attend the reunion in Chattanooga and walked over to participate. Walking never hurts me, it does me good. After I had attended the reunion it struck me that it would be a fine time to visit my daughter as I had not seen her in a long time. Being nearer the place, I started to walk it and have so far succeeded."

THE THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION OF THE NEW YORK WORLD

Practically a Daily at the price of a Weekly.

No Other Newspaper in the World Gives So Much at So Low a Price.

This is a time of great events and you will want the news accurately and promptly. The Democrats, for the first time in sixteen years, will have the Presidency and they will have the Presidency and they will also control both branches of Congress. The political news is sure to be of the most absorbing interest.

There is a great war in the Old World, and you may read of the extinction of the vast Turkish Empire in Europe, just as a few years ago you read how Spain lost her last foot of soil in America, after having ruled the empire of half the New World.

The World long since established a record for impartiality, and anybody can afford its Thrice-a-Week edition, which comes every other day in the week, except Sunday. It will be of particular value to you now. The Thrice-a-Week World also abounds in other strong features, serial stories, humor, markets, cartoons; in fact, everything that is to be found in a first class daily.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 166 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and the Hopkinsville Kentuckian together for one year for $2.65.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $3.00.

We are prepared to do all kinds of high-grade job printing. Try us.

Rabbits Cause Immense Loss. Observant and experienced men compute that eight or ten rabbits eat or destroy as much grass as one sheep. As there are so many millions of rabbits in Australia, the loss in the carrying capacity of the country is appalling. The pest in New South Wales is spreading, notwithstanding all that is being done in the shape of trapping, poisoning, fumigating, and digging out.

Terrible Picture of Suffering.

Clinton, Ky.—Mrs. M. C. McElroy,
in a letter from Clinton, writes:
"For six years I was a sufferer from female troubles. I could not eat, and could not stand on my feet, without suffering great pain. Three of the best doctors in the State said I was in a critical condition, and going down hill. I lost hope. After using Cardui a week I began to improve. Now I feel better than for six years." Fifty years of success in actual practice is positive proof that Cardui can always be relied on for relieving female weakness and disease. Why not test it for yourself?

Autos at the Chautauquas

AUTOMOBILES are very much in evidence nowadays at nearly all Redpath Chautauquas, and people come from longer distances than they would if obliged to use horses and carriages. The upper illustration shows the autos about the Chautauqua grounds near the tent at Goshen, Ind. The other picture shows a long string of autos lined up in front of the Chautauqua at Plymouth, Ind. Both pictures were made in 1912.

Another Musical Attraction of Chautauqua Week

THE BARNARD ORCHESTRA.

ONE of the notable musical organizations which will appear here Chautauqua week is the Barnard orchestra. Most of the members of this orchestra have been on the Lyceum and Chautauqua platforms for nine years. Miss Anna Barnard, violinist, is the directress. Miss Helen Barnard is cornetist and reader. E. Russell Banks plays the clarinet. Ethel Barnard is the pianist. Edwin R. Whelan plays the trombone and Robert G. Barnard the xylophone and drums. This orchestra in its present form appeared before the State Teachers' association of Indiana in December, 1912, and made a tremendous hit.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE REDPATH CHAUTAUQUAS, CHICAGO.

HARRY P. HARRISON.

THE headquarters of the 110 Redpath Chautauquas operated in Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Michigan are in the Cable building, Chicago. One entire floor of this big building is given up to the offices of the Redpath bureau. Mr. Harry P. Harrison, the treasurer of the Redpath bureau and general manager of the Chicago office, is the president and general manager of the entire system of 110 Chautauquas. In addition to directing the system of 110 Chautauquas from the headquarters in Chicago, he will personally visit most of the Chautauquas at some time during the season.

CHAS. F. SHELTON, Mgr.Cordial Invitation to Become
Real Members of the Redpath Family

We have chosen this community as the center for one of our chautauquas because we have faith in the enterprise, enthusiasm, and genuine chautauqua spirit of your citizens. We believe that the program we are offering this season eclipses any seven-day chautauqua program ever presented and likewise we have confidence in the ability of the people of this section to appreciate good things.

But not only do we invite you to attend, but to become real members of the big Redpath family, both by fellowship with your friends at the chautauqua grounds, and by making the acquaintance of the management, the superintendents, and of the live young college men who comprise the tent crews. Cordially yours,

HARRY P. HARRISON,

Pres. and Gen. Mgr. Redpath Chautauquas.

Cornell lost his first game at Harrisburg Wednesday, but three errors helped the Moguls to lose.

The Vincennes team is hanging on the ragged edge and must have $1,500 to run to the end of the season. An effort is being made to raise the money this week.

Tobacco.

Notwithstanding the cool and dry weather and the close of the season, the transactions on the loose floors of the market were heavy, 55,550 lbs being sold. Prices on the loose floors and the hoghead department ruled about the same as last week. The large storage houses of the Imperial, American Snuff Co. and others, are practically closed, but some "tail-enders" are occasionally seen on the streets going to the houses.

Below is Inspector Abernathy's weekly report:

Bright as Day.

The Kentucky Public Service Co. turned the electric current on the huge sign last Wednesday night. It attracted a great deal of attention and made Ninth street nearly as light as day.

Mr. Ducker Moving.

C. W. Ducker's cottage, Ninth and Main street, is about on its way to Bryan street, where Mr. Ducker has bought a lot. Mr. Ducker has lived at the corner 48 years, nearly all his life.

Bob Taylor Lives.

In the two bright and beautiful books just issued, "Lectures and Best Literary Productions," and "Life and Career" of Senator Robert Love Taylor, handsomely illustrated, you cannot hear again his voice or see the humorous curl of his lips, that convulsed a continent with laughter, but, within the covers of these volumes, are the pictures woven of his wondrous words, and, laughing through their sunny pages, are all of the inimitable stories which he told to the multitudes. In "Life and Career," pens of genius have traced his romantic life from its morning in "Happy Valley," through his young and rosy dreams, through stress and storm, through cheering throngs, and on into the waiting shadows, loved and laurel crowned.

We expect to sell millions of these books. First edition going fast.

Cloth, $2 the Volume, $4 the Set, Half Morocco, $2.75 the Volume, $5 the Set, Full Morocco, $5.50 the Volume, $10 the Set. The people want them. A harvest for Agents. Liberal commissions. Address,

A Wonderful Remedy That Saves Your Stock

Your sheep, hogs, cattle, horses and mules are subject to deadly attacks of worms. These ravenous pests multiply by the millions, starve your stock, keep them poor, weak, and out of condition.

SAL-VET

The Great Worm Destroyer and Conditioner

Is a medicated stock salt that will rid every animal on your place of worms quickly and keep them worm free and healthy. No pay if it fails. No dosing, no drenching. Just put it where all your stock can run to it freely. They will doctor themselves, thrive faster, and put on money-making flesh. Sal-Vet is not expensive. We carry it in 25 cwt. and 50 cwt. bags. Come in and get a package to try. You will be pleased with the results. We guarantee it.
